

LEAGUE FORMAT

At the core of LIV Golf regular-season tournaments are the dual individual and team leaderboards that create the sport's most unique competition format. Starting with the 2026 season, several updates will take effect, reinforcing the League's commitment to elite competition, season-long performance and the continued growth of team golf. The updates reflect feedback from players, teams and stakeholders while supporting LIV Golf's long-term vision as a global league built around both individual excellence and team success.

UPDATED LOCK ZONE AND DROP ZONE STRUCTURE

To better reward consistent performance across the season, LIV Golf is introducing updated competitive thresholds to the season-long individual standings in 2026:

The Lock Zone (1-34)

The Lock Zone (1-34) will expand to the top 34 players (approximately 60% of the field – an increase from the top 24 players from 2022-2025).

The Open Zone (35-46)

The Open Zone (35-46) will shrink to the middle 12 players (approximately 20% of the field – a decrease from 24 players in 2024-2025).

The Drop Zone/Relegation (47-57)

The Drop Zone/Relegation (47-57) will expand to 11 players (approximately 20% of the field – an increase from the bottom 6 players in 2024-2025).

These changes increase the turnover and meritocratic pathways into the League, enhance the competitive tension throughout the season, reflect the increased field size in 2026, and are designed to provide greater clarity around season-long performance benchmarks.
